Dear Dr. Randazzo,

This letter is written to express the deep appreciation that Healing the Children New Jersey has for the generous and exemplary care that Cesar Lopez has received from IGEA Brain & Spine.

When he arrived from Peru, we knew that Cesar's surgery would not be a simple one. The length of his stay and the complexity of the care that was necessary once the initial surgery was completed were not anticipated. In spite of this, everyone involved with his care stood by him and provided a consistently high level of care. For this we are most thankful.

The neurosurgeon, the nursing staff, the housekeeping staff and all of the additional personnel involved always treated Cesar with exceptional care and kindness. A small example of this is the iPad that the staff kindly purchased and donated to Cesar so that he could stay in better touch with his parents in Peru via Skype.

I also have been asked to extend thanks to everyone involved with his care from the two host families that have cared for Cesar. The time they have spent at Cesar's bedside has given each of them a profound sense of gratitude for your help.

And finally, I must express the gratitude from Cesar's father and mother in Peru. They know that without everyone's generosity and support, their son would most probably not be alive today. They had followed his progress each day with fear and with hope. There is no way to convey their thanks adequately, so I will just say that this son that they adore, their "greatest treasure", has returned to them because he was healed by the generosity of others. Their gratitude, along with ours, is immeasurable.

With Warm Regards,

Diane Calesnick
